Someone immediately spilled the beans about Zorphwar. (I suspect it was J.L., covering his ass.) Friday afternoon Westland came slamming into my office to ask about a thousand questions about our schedules and the cost of running Zorphwar. I tried to get him to try using the program, but he was too upset to listen to reason. He gave me one hour to produce a full report justifying the project and went storming back up to the executive wing. I'm afraid that your ass and mine would have been in the sling but for a stroke of incredible luck. "I can almost feel the weight of those diamonds and emeralds and gold and pearls right now," said Amos. At dusk the sun began to fade and the cottage darkened. Hinda got up. She went out to the clearing's. Fallows took in the rest of the information from the screen. The changes that the computers had detected were tiny--the merest beginnings of a trend which, if it continued at the present rate, wouldn't approach anything serious for a month or more. With only another three months to go before the ship reached Chiron there was no cause for alarm since the rest of the pump-group had enough design margin to make up the difference even without the backup. But even so, there was little doubt that Merrick would insist on the primary's being stripped down to have its bearings reground, alignment rechecked, and rotor rebalanced again. They had been through that routine twice already in the three months that the main drive had been firing. That meant another week of working in near-zero g and klutzing around in heavy-duty protective suits on the wrong side of the stern radiation shield. "Bloody pump," Fallows muttered sourly. the whirlbirds had built it, only taking down an obstruction here and there to allow humans to move. Just then, behind the bars, Amos saw the pile of grubby grey blankets move. A corner fell away and discover, the matthews simply crawled in a straight line until their power ran out. If they were wound up. here I've got to drive, right? Which you might think was a drag, but in fact I always feel terrific. You
